ABOUT UF

The University of Florida traces its origins to 1853 when the state-funded East Florida Seminary acquired the private Kingsbury Academy in Ocala, Florida. After the Civil War, the seminary was moved to Gainesville. It was consolidated with the state's land-grant Florida Agricultural College, then in Lake City, to become the University of Florida in 1906. Until 1947, UF was designated for men and was one of only three state universities.

Today, with more than 48,000 students, UF is the second-largest university in the nation. It is the largest of the 11 state universities, and is governed by the State Board of Education, the Florida Board of Governors and the UF Board of Trustees.

UF joined the ranks of North America's best graduate research institutions with its admission in 1985 to the Association of American Universities, the most prestigious organization in higher education. The university also has been recognized by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education as one of the nation's leading research universities.

The university includes 16 colleges, five schools and more than 100 interdisciplinary research and education centers, bureaus and institutes. Students can choose majors from 100 undergraduate degree programs and around 200 graduate programs.

UF employs more than 4,000 faculty members and 7,500 administrative professional and support staff. With operations in more than 900 buildings on 2,000 acres, the university has research centers, extension offices, clinics and other facilities in every county in Florida.

ABOUT CLAS

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Florida is the largest college on campus, with more than 700 faculty members responsible for teaching the majority of the university's core curriculum to at least 35,000 students each year. CLAS has more than 12,000 undergraduate students pursuing a variety of disciplines through its 42 majors and 42 minors. Additionally, nearly 2,000 graduate students are also attaining advanced degrees in the college.

The college faculty rank among the best in the nation and have received a variety of national and international awards, including the Pulitzer Prize, Guggenheim Fellowships, Senior Fulbright Awards, National Science Foundation Fellowships, Presidential Young Investigator Awards and National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships. They hold memberships in the National Academy of Science, the Nobel Prize Committee, the Swedish Royal Academy of Sciences and the Royal Societies of London and Edinburgh.

CLAS students also are among the top at UF, receiving numerous scholarships and awards for their academic performance. During the past several years, CLAS had a Rhodes Scholar, as well as several Barry Goldwater Scholars, Harry Truman Scholars and James Madison Scholars.

ABOUT THE CAP & GOWN

The academic costume worn by graduating students and faculty at today's commencement ceremonies evolved from a style of dress worn by members of guilds and religious orders in medieval times.

Individuals who have earned a degree in higher education wear the black academic gown. Hoods are worn by those with graduate degrees. At the University of Florida, the lining of the hood has a blue chevron on an orange background, though faculty members who hold degrees from another institution usually wear the colors of their alma mater.

Each degree level equates to differences in the gown. Bachelor's gowns have standard sleeves, master's gowns have oblong-shaped sleeves with wrist openings, and Ph.D. gowns have bell sleeves with velvet chevrons.

Undergraduate tassels are white for Bachelor of Arts and gold-yellow for Bachelor of Science. The undergraduate costume may also include honor cords. Each pair of orange and blue cords corresponds to a level of honors: three pairs represent summa cum laude (highest honors), two pairs represent magna cum laude (high honors), and one pair represent cum laude (honors). Graduates may wear additional cords received from various honorary organizations.

DIPLOMAS

Diplomas will be mailed to each graduate's permanent address on file with the university within approximately nine weeks.

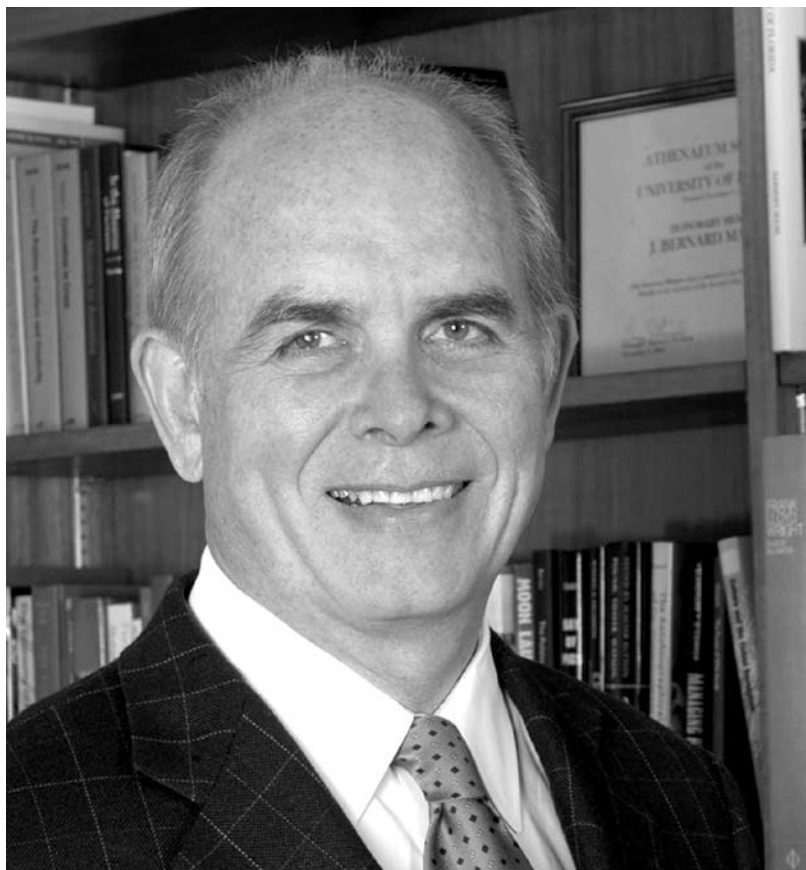

A LETTER FROM OUR PRESIDENT

The University of Florida administration, faculty and staff extend our heartfelt congratulations to the graduates, families and friends of the Class of 2010. Today's ceremonies celebrate your successful completion of a demanding course of study in higher education. You, and all who have supported you in this endeavor, can take pride in your achievement.

On this day of celebration, we are confident you have acquired the skills necessary to make a difference. We expect you will use these abilities toward the betterment of society—whether in the arts, sciences, commerce, education, public service, health care, or philanthropy.

We have been privileged to mentor you in your academic career. We hope you will, today and always, reflect on your time at the university with fondness and a sense of accomplishment. Please know that as a member of the distinguished alumni of this institution, you will always be welcome at the University of Florida.

Good luck and best wishes!

J. Bernard "Bernie" Machen, D.D.S., M.S., Ph.D., was appointed as the 11th president of the University of Florida in October 2003 and assumed the office on January 5, 2004.

A native of Greenwood, Mississippi, Dr. Machen grew up in St. Louis. After attending Vanderbilt University for his undergraduate studies, he earned his doctor of dental surgery degree from St. Louis University and his master of science in pediatric dentistry and doctorate in educational psychology from the University of Iowa.

Prior to coming to Gainesville, Dr. Machen served six years as the president of the University of Utah. From 1995 to 1997, he was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan and served as dean of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry from 1989 until 1995. He also served as professor and associate dean at the University of North Carolina's School of Dentistry from 1983 to 1989, and was president of the American Association of Dental Schools in 1987.

Since coming to UF, Dr. Machen has shepherded the university through a period of rapid growth and increasing prestige. Today, UF has 50,000 students, a research budget of $583 million, and an endowment of over $1.2 billion. Dr. Machen has also undertaken several ambitious initiatives aimed both at improving UF and enhancing its contribution to the state and nation. These include efforts to create a more culturally diverse campus, enhance students' educational experience, promote statewide economic development, bring about better stewardship of natural resources and make the university more environmentally friendly.

A veteran U.S. Army major, Dr. Machen and wife, Chris, have two sons and a daughter.

A LETTER FROM OUR DEAN

Paul D'Anieri earned a bachelor's degree in international relations at Michigan State, followed by a master's and doctorate in government at Cornell University.

In 1991, he was hired as an assistant professor of political science at the University of Kansas. After the Soviet Union collapsed, D'Anieri won a Fulbright Scholarship to Ukraine, where he picked up a third foreign language while working as a visiting scholar at Lviv State University.

D'Anieri's research has been centered on the international and domestic politics of the former Soviet Union and, in addition to Germany and Ukraine, his studies have taken him to Russia, Kyrgyzstan and Azerbaijan.

During the summer of 1998, D'Anieri was a visiting associate professor at Harvard University's Ukrainian Research Institute. He served as Associate Dean for International Programs at Kansas from 1999 to 2003, Director of the Center for Russian and European Studies in 2003-2004, and Associate Dean of Humanities from 2004 until accepting his position as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Florida in July 2008.

Congratulations Graduates!

Today is a day on which you look both backwards and forwards. You look backwards at the great experiences you have had at UF. You look forward to the great opportunities and the serious challenges that await you beyond UF and Gainesville. There is, however, a close connection between what you have done here at UF and what you will do going forward.

As a graduate of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, you have learned, and you have learned how to learn. It is that refined ability to discover, to imagine, and to create that will help you turn challenges into opportunities, both for yourself and for our society, in the years ahead.

We are confident that your own abilities and your UF education prepare you for the world you will find outside Gainesville, but we hope that however far you travel, you will maintain your connection with us. The Gator Nation is an amazing community that will continue to enrich you for the rest of your lives.

Educating students is the most important thing we do. We are proud that you chose to come to UF. We are proud of the world-class teacher-scholars that have educated you. And after today we will be proud to call you graduates of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Professor Lourdes Arizpe, researcher at El Colegio de Mexico and at the National University of Mexico, is internationally respected for her outstanding work in anthropology, gender and Latin American studies with exceptional contributions in feminist studies.

A graduate of the London School of Economics and Political Science, Arizpe pioneered anthropological studies in indigenous communities in Mexico on kinship and economics, migration, women's role in development, indigenous political movements, and culture in global change. In the 1970s, she wrote three of the classic texts of Mexican anthropology, Kinship and Economy in a Nahuatl Society, Indians in the City: The Case of the Marias, and The Challenge of Cultural Pluralism.

Arizpe continued her innovation by opening new fields of research in Mexican anthropology in her books, Social Perceptions of Environmental Change in the Lacandon Rainforest, and more recently in her books Cultural Interactivity in Globalization and Intangible Cultural Heritage in Mexico: Rites and Festivities. She has also edited eight books with Latin American, Mexican and world anthropologists. Several of her books and articles have been translated to other languages. She also created and directed the UNESCO World Culture Report in 1998 and 2001.

As Assistant Director General for Culture at UNESCO and in subsequent leadership positions in numerous national and international professional associations, Arizpe has proven her dedication to public service. She was elected president of two national and five international scientific organizations, vice-president for two and coordinator for five. She held the position of secretary for the global organization DAWN, Development

Alternatives for Women in a New Era.

Arizpe has been honored many times for her countless contributions, beginning with a 1978 award for her service to indigenous peoples by the National Indigenous Institute of Mexico. Since then, she has continued to be recognized as a world-wide scholar and educator with other awards, including the Fulbright-Hays and John D. Guggenheim research fellowships. The American Anthropological Association has recently created the "Lourdes Arizpe Award in Environmental and Policy Studies."

"The broad and deep knowledge she brings to the diverse subjects of her research and writing have made her a profoundly public intellectual whose impact reaches well beyond the academy," said UF Professor Milagros Peña.

The University of Florida recognizes Professor Arizpe today with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in Liberal Arts and Sciences.

OUTSTANDING STUDENT LEADERS

The following students have been named UF Outstanding Leaders. The selection committee considers the quality and scope of leadership activities, university-wide leadership experience, special awards and recognition, and recommendations from faculty, staff and students.

Jason Hillel Attermann, from Longwood, Florida, is a political science and anthropology double major with a certificate in public leadership. He was selected to attend the National Campaign for Political and Civic Engagement at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard. He held several campus positions including student member of UF Hillel board of directors, Jewish Student Union, ACCENT Speakers Bureau, Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity, and Florida Blue Key. A Dean's List student, Attermann also interned with CLSA in Hong Kong, at the Clerk's Office at the Federal Courthouse in Gainesville, and worked at the Stephen C. O'Connell Center and as programming counselor at Camp Ramah Darom in Georgia. He will spend a year in Israel studying Arabic at Haifa University before studying foreign policy and Arabic in graduate school.

Bryan Davis Griffin, from Tampa, Florida, is a political science and classics double major with a minor in public leadership with the Bob Graham Center and a certificate in public administration. He is recipient of a William E. Rion Involvement Award, Fearless Leader College Republican Award, and Best Brother award from Delta Upsilon. He was involved in politics as chairman of College Republicans and state chairman of Florida Federation of College Republicans. He founded Florida Frontier and cheaperbyastudent.com. On campus, he was Gator Growl spokesman and director of public relations, president of Delta Upsilon, ACCENT director of university relations, student senator and senate parliamentarian, Florida Blue Key, Mortar Board, and Omicron Delta Kappa. He will attend UF Masters of Science Management Program and UF Law School and plans to run for publicly elected office in Alachua County.

She participated in the SURF summer research program at the Mayo Clinic, tutored at the Teaching Center, researched in Dr. Ogle's biomedical engineering lab, and volunteered at Shands Pediatric Neurosurgery Clinic. She will participate in a summer research training program before beginning medical school in the fall.

Alexander Lee Riehm, from Lawrenceville, Georgia, is an anthropology and religion double major with a history minor. He won Dial Center Best Qualitative Paper Award for "Separate Lives, Separate Visions: Geopolitics and Community Relations in Post-Accord Belfast." He presented this paper at the International Conference for Peace and Reconciliation and the American Anthropological Association Annual Meeting. He studied abroad in Belfast, Ireland and Mérida, Mexico. He is an Anderson Scholar, National Merit Scholar, UF Honors Ambassador, Sledd Hall resident assistant, and a member of Student Honors Organization and Society of Academic Religious Studies. He will pursue a master's degree in international affairs and conflict resolution to prepare for a career in community-based research and conflict analysis.

Steven Lawrence Robinette is a biochemistry and molecular biology major who grew up traveling the U.S. and Japan with his military parents. He was the first Marshall Scholar from UF, a Barry M. Goldwater scholarship recipient, Hertz Foundation Finalist, and Science for Life Provost Scholar while studying at Imperial College in London junior year. He worked with Dr. Edison in biochemistry and molecular biology, and interned at the National High Magnetic Field Lab in Tallahassee. He published six peer-reviewed papers while at UF. He will go back to Imperial College to begin his Ph.D. as a Marshall Scholar before heading to the National Institutes of Health in Washington, D.C. to finish his Ph.D. work under an NIH-Marshall partnership with Imperial College.

Deborah Anne Swerdlow, from Longwood, Florida, is a journalism and IDS Middle Eastern languages and cultures double major, minoring in Hebrew. She speaks both Hebrew and Arabic. She was active in UF Hillel, Keshet, Honors Ambassadors, Omicron Delta Kappa, and UF's English Language Institute. An Anderson Scholar of Highest Distinction, she was recipient of an U.S. State Department Critical Language Scholarship and the Knight College of Journalism Scholarship. She studied abroad in Jordan and Brazil, worked at the Independent Florida Alligator, Florida Engineer magazine, and Counterpoise magazine. She interned in the public policy department of the Religious Coalition for Reproductive Choice in Washington, D.C., and hopes to work in the public policy department of an organization that advocates for reproductive rights. She has also applied for a Fulbright English Teaching Assistantship grant to Egypt.

ALMA MATER by Milton Yeats

Florida, Our Alma Mater,
Thy glorious name we praise.
All thy loyal sons and daughters
A joyous song shall raise.

Where palm and pine are blowing,
Where southern seas are flowing,
Shine forth thy noble Gothic walls,
Thy lovely vine clad halls.

'Neath the orange and blue victorious,
Our love shall never fail.
There's no other name so glorious,
All hail, Florida, hail!
