

21 OCTOBER AT 7:00 P.M.
CHRISTIAN STUDY CENTER, 112 NW 16TH STREET

A New Garb for the Jewish Soul

THE JPS BIBLE IN THE LIGHT OF KING JAMES

a lecture by

NAOMI SEIDMAN

Koret Professor of Jewish Culture at the Graduate Theological Union

The year 2011 will mark the 400th anniversary of the publication of the King James Bible. Dr. Seidman will speak on a chapter in the history of its afterlife, the Jewish Publication Society's 1917 translation of the Hebrew Bible or "Tanakh" — a translation which intentionally and self consciously echoed the language and cadences of the King James Version, establishing a continuity between Jewish liturgical and biblical expression and the biblical culture that shaped the Anglophone world.

Sponsored by the Center for the Humanities and the Public Sphere with support from the Yavitz Fund, the Department of Religion, the Alexander Grass Chair in Jewish Studies, and the Christian Study Center of Gainesville.

UF UNIVERSITY of FLORIDA