

AFRIGLOBAL MEDICINE

NEW PERSPECTIVES ON EPIDEMICS, WARS, MIGRATIONS, DRUGS & HEALING RITUALS. A LECTURE BY JOHN JANZEN.

OCT 12 2006 6:30 PM KEENE FACULTY CENTER

John Janzen is a professor of anthropology at the University of Kansas who has done long-term fieldwork on the socio-cultural dimensions of health in Africa and studied postwar trauma healing within African diaspora communities in the United States.

Presented by the Center for African Studies in collaboration with the Division of Research and Graduate Programs, the International Speakers Program and the Department of Anthropology as part of the workshop "Transnational Medicines, Mobile Experts: Rethinking Medicine In and Beyond Africa" (October 13-14). Contact Hansjoerg Dilger (dilger@ufl.edu) for more information.

UF