

2004 Southeast Early China Roundtable

October 15-17
University of Florida

Founded in 1997, the Southeast Early China Roundtable is an annual conference of scholars from the south Atlantic region who study China from earliest times through the end of the Tang dynasty in the 10th century. SEECR's purpose is to provide a forum for specialist discussions of all aspects of early China and to promote this area of interest in the community by sponsoring public lectures.

Participants

Stephen D. Allee (Freer Gallery of Art and Arthur M. Sackler Gallery, Smithsonian Institution), Cynthia L. Chennault (Co-chair and Organizer; University of Florida), Stephen Eskildsen (University of Tennessee), Lothar von Falkenhausen (Keynote Speaker; University of California, Los Angeles), Eric P. Henry (University of North Carolina), Anne B. Kinney (Conference Chair; University of Virginia), Russell Kirkland (University of Georgia), Keith Knapp (The Citadel), Guolong Lai (University of Florida), Winston Lo (Professor Emeritus, Florida State University), Jeffrey L. Richey (Berea College), N. Harry Rothschild (University of North Florida)

For More Information

Call the Asian Studies Program at 392-4619, visit <http://web.clas.ufl.edu/asian/> or email cchenna@aall.ufl.edu.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

Sponsors: Asian Studies Program, School of Art and Art History, Center for International Studies, Transnational and Global Studies Center, Samuel P. Harn Museum, Department of African and Asian Languages and Literatures, Department of Anthropology.